ANGLO-SAXONS ABROAD

The Caroless American and the Well Drossod Englishman --- The Untidy English Lady and Hor Natty American Cousin.

[Robort Laird Collier.] The American gentleman travels and walks and dines in the same suit of clothes, and the so of the clien sort are in the everlasting brondeloth suit. Much wear has made it shiny, usually. He is also caroless—that is ampress in his walk and bearing. Mind you, I am not describing my friends whom I am meeting, but a great lot of Americans whom I am daily seeing in public places. On the other hand, when the American affects dress he rather overloss it. He makes a pond of it. He centres his mind so much upon it they he less the cat out of the bug and says to the bodolide: "This 'got up' is the result of thought, not nucous ious habit." The English gentleman is always well dressel. He is dressel much the same as every other English gentleman, and this is certainly monotonous. But, to the foreigner, all life in England is monotonous. Still the English gentleman is neatly as well as suntably diessel, his boots are clean and his clothes and hat well brushed before he makes his appearance in the morning. When in Paris he has something to do more suitable to his laste than atting and snoking about the hotels and public places. But the American gentleman is a less con-siderable factor in domestic and social life han the American lady. And so it is that the American haly takes her pince easily, gracefully, and has about her all the out-ward signs of her relative and "advanced" position in the family and in society. In the matter of dress the English hely cannot bold a candle to her. Here is the fact. The English haly does not know how to dress well. She is the worst dressed hely in Europe. She goes to the extreme of the American goutleother—She wears no end of feather and rib-bors, volvet and lace—She is usually short and stout, but all the same she has florings

Her American consta is natty—she has " but the thing" on usually that suits her, and she appears neat and trim. She is quite as well dressed as the French lady, and I han toward the opinion that the American lady it the best dressed lady in the world. Certainly when young she is the protiest and the most interesting. Dress is the outand sign. But not only the outward sign.

Mark this one. Here comes into table dinto a hely and a goatleman—this is the order. The hely is slim in figure and refined in leatures. She is neatly, indeed prettily, directly. She is usually unconscious and at dressed. She is usually unconscious and at her case, Just a little behind her, following her up rather shyly, consciously ill at ease, is her husband, in the overhasting black broadclade suit. She has been sight-seeing, perhaps, and perhaps not. More likely he has been sitting in the court of his hotel taking husaness with his follow countryman. He comes to tuble just as he has left the street or the hotel court. He follows his wife with confident admiration and is dutiful nerall good. husbands ought to be these conjugal relations as revealed in social life and you have a picture of the English man and wife. The gentleman takes the lend, is as unconscious as any Englishman ever can be, is as much at his ease as an Englishman over is Ho is well dressed. His clothes, whatever they are, have been well brushed, and his boots are clean and well fitting. He usually travels with bulf a Now he this case it is the good, slimple, home loving, rather dull, but relig-lously duffful water who enters the salen just behind the husband. She is very conscious poor thing, show in all sorts of colors and ribbons and lives.—Short or fall, she wears the regulation cap, which has no grace or

Don't Want to Be Interviewed a Bit.

(Chicago Times.)
John Statson, the well known theatrical manager of New York and Boston, has long been a favorite target with newspaper wits, and he has been credited with numberless misuses of the English language. He has finally become tired of these physantries at his expense, and in a card to The New York

I think, as a patron, and a rather liberal I think, as a patron, and a rather more, of the press, and as a manager who has attained by hard work an established position in the theatried profession, I am entitled to be spared being the target of cheap wits and interview manufacturers.

I am aware that I have from time to time the continuous and the proof with some professions. been much a puck-horsoof withest paragraphers' bad jokes, Joo Millerisms, and "chestnuts" of numerous descriptions, published a generation ago in Davy Crockett's almanac, and have been represented as a intifoon by pamya lines. There nor thought it worth while to add another to the five hundred persons in my employ in order to make answer to such harmless though groundless wittelsms. In the present instance there is, however, upsaront, I think, a deliberate purpose to be little my standing as a manager and submit me to ridicule at the outset of an important senson in which I am in the flold better equipped than over to make a competition for public favor—I repeat that the conversa-tion with me which you publish was never held; I was not interviewed as you state, and lead; I was not they were as you also, a leading to end the publication is an invention. In twenty live years' experience I do claim that I have attained a thorough knowledge of all details of the theatrical hydrogen and the language relating theorte. I am not a purse-proud lunguart to say "I nin't particular as to dollars," nor do I over undertake to ernas ment my conversation with orthor Latin or French Whom I have occusion, I can

[Jean Ingelow in Longman's Magazine.]
[Como hither, come hither? the broom was in blessom all ever you rise,
There went a wide murmur of brown bose about it with songs from the wood;
"We shall never he younger: O love, let us forth for the world heath our eyes—
A the world in made young even as we and Ay, the world is made young e'en as we, and right fair is her youth and right good. Then there fell the great yearning upon me that never yet went into words.

While lonewme and monneone thereon spake and fathered the dove to the dove.
And I came at her calling: "Inherit, inheriti and sing with the birds."
I went up to the wood with the child of my heart and the wife of my love.

O pure! O pathetic! Wild byacinth drank it, the dream light apace. Not a leaf moved at all neath the blue, they hing waiting for messagers kind;

Tall cherry trees dropped their white blessom that drifted no whit from its place;
For the south very far out to sea had the lulling low voice of the wind.

And the child's dancing foot gave us part in the ravishment almost a pain; An infinite tremor of life, a fond murmur that cried out on time,

Ah shortt must all end in the doing and spend itself sweetly in vain, And the promise be only failllment to lean from the height of its prime! "We shall never be younger!" may, mack me not fancy, none call from you tree; They have thrown me the world, they went over, went up; and, alos, for my part, I am left to grew old, and to grieve and to change, but they change not with me, They will never be older, the child of my leve and the wife of my heart.

I was also a sufferer tunn a severe catairh and entarrhad cough, my appetto was poor, and my system a good dent-zun down Knowing the value of many other cases, and from personal use in former years. I bugan taking it for the above-named disorders. My appetite improved almost from the first dose. After a short time the lever and litching were alloyed, and all signs of irritation of the skin disappeared. My entarth and cough wor also cured by the same means, and my general health greatly improved, until it is now excellent. I feel a hundred per cent stronger, and I attribute these results of the Sarist-rafilla, which I recommend with all combines as the best blood medicine ever decised. I took it in small doses three times a day, and used, in all, has then two bottles. I place publication may do good.

The above instance is but one of the many constantly coming to our notice, which prove the perfect adaptability of Axia's Sausa-PARILLA to the oure of all diseases arising from impure or impoverished blood, and a weakened vitality.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla cleanses, enriches, and strongthens the blood, stimulates the action of the stomach and bowels, and thereby enables the system to recistant evercome the attacks of all Serefuhus Diseases, Exaptions of the Skin, Rheu-matism, Catarrh, General Debility, and all disorders resulting from poor or corrupted blood and a low state of the system.

A Magnificent City Where Every SpecialDispatches One Seems Happy. Purb Cor. St. Louis Republican

The "droug of my life is realized" . I am in Paris! I have been here three weeks, and all that was ever written in regard to this "gay city" does not do it justice. It is grand, and it is cortainly, as the French call it, the most beautiful city in the world. I was delighted with New York, but I am charmed with Paris! It is a city of grandour, a city of palnees, grand churches, statuary, inc moneo parks, paintings and art of every description superb and magnitioent! The streets are broader than any in America; the houses, all of stone, built tight together for squares and squares. The houses all run up six, seven and eight sto ries high, with strange rounding roofs, with dormer windows, and people live way up in their skylights. They make use of every space.

The country from Havre, where we arrived, to Paris, is beautiful. The farms and houses and quaint villages were so picturesque, and the possants in their strange costumes, were so protty, reminding me of pie tures I have seen. Every inch of of the nobility. But Paris! I am there is so much excitement in this city and so much to admire, that I can't sleep. The boulevards at night are as crowded as our veiled prophet Secretary of War will recommend in procession nights, only their streets are so much wider. At night they are ablaze with light. I never naw a city where they burned so much gas at night in the streets as this. from the windows it looks as if you could walk on their heads. The streets are paved in stone, and some in asphaltum. They run cars and Thusses, built like the late St. Louis ries high 6 conts to ride inside and 3 cents on top, and they have little winding stairs to go on top. They are drawn by four horses abroast (circus style), big Normandy horses, and these, with cabs and all kinds of carringes, go rattling over the streets day and night. God help the horses!

Around all the cafes and restau rants and the "Grand Hotel" are friends of Mrs. Williams called upon her double rows of tables and chairs, and and gave her quite a pleasant surprise, here people sit all day and I presume not only having their backets well filled till midnight, drinking boor, champagne, vermouth, absinthe, and all kinds of liquors. They even have wine at breakfast, and still I see no one "tight." Every one seems happy.

> Tragndy Josephine Reliey. An exchange and the following to say of the company which is to give "Romeo and Juliet," at the opera house next Friday night:

Romes and Juliet was the bill last farmed that Jattot was the bill the conclud-ing performance of Miss Josephine Reliev and her company. The favorite love-story of Avona band, was excellently inorproted, and the applaise was frequent and spontaneous. Miss Rolley brings to the role of Juliet many admirable qualifientions, youth, beauty, a sweet girlishnes of demeaner and an evidence of strong dramatic instinct. Her opening scene, the buleany, and that with the nurse, were all played with a nativette and innocence natural to her youth, but in the darker and more gloomy scenes of the tragedy she rose to a pitch of tragic power soldon and road for a partition longic power stations requallted. Massi Realey's faults noted yesterday are tow, and on seeing her a second time, we are ted to the helief that her very faults and at present condities, will be elemente of success in her future dra-matic onrect. We refer particularly to her method of information, the subillant and hissing quality of her elecution in this more declaratory scenes, being the result of an intensity of beling and some pathy with the Author's Ideal. Mis Reiloy certainly has a flattering future be fore her, and we wish her every success The autoport was good, very good, Frederick Paulding furth outdoing himself in what we understand is a favorite charac-ter with him. CHICAGO, Oct. 9. - Wheat for Docember closed last night at 95% c. Three-quarters of the local crowd are taking 50c. for this option, although a few are buying for a temporary reaction. There would be more believers in a reaction after so sharp a decline if it were not a fact that prices are now dropping, not under speculative influences, but because stocks are increaslog with no corresponding demand. When the shipments are increased the deeline will be checked; when they become equal to the receipts it will stop. When the shipments exceed the receipts, perhaps a rally will come.

Corn declined probably because all the other markets were doing the same thing. It was not declining as wheat was, because there was no demand for it, because the shipments in the last forty-eight hours were nearly 400,000 bushels and a little exceeded the receipts. Neither did it declin because a majority of the speculators felt bearish on it. It was neglected, and when corn is attracting little attention its crowd generally partake of the mood of the wheat of Louisville, Ky., to furnish the city of Decatur with pipe for the new water main was approved by a unanimous vote, and an ordinance for providing for furnishing water mains for the city by contract with Dennis, Long & Co, was adopted.

THE RELATE QUESTION. Chairman Lake, of the finance committoo, stated that he was propared to make a verbal report on the rebate matter connected with the brick walks on the north side of West Prairie street. He was pre pared only to give a statement of the facts, and had no recommendation to make. The committee had learned from certificates that W. A. Ragan and An drew L. Hill had built their brick walks under the 40 per cent. ordinance and within the time specified, but none of the other property owners along the street asking a rebate had done so. Their walks were not completed until after the ordinance was repealed by the one now

On motion the council ordered that Mesers. Ragan and Hill be paid the 40 per cent, rebate due them. . .

Quite a discussion followed on the question of allowing other parties the rebate asked. Rober's held that it should be paid, but it seemed that the balance of the aldermen were against him. Roborts moved that the robute on all walks begun before the adoption of the repeal ordinance, be paid; but Diehl offered an amendment that all claims for rebate for sidewalks not built within the time specifled by ordinance be not allowed, which was carried, whereupon Roberts offered a motion that the claims remain in the hands of the committee for discussion in committee. The motion was lost by a vote of 5 to 4. WORK ACCEPTED.

The crop is very large this year, but the oranges are dropping off some on account of the dry

I wrote you in my last that the Commissioner of the State at the Louisville Exposition had secured a day to be called "Florida Day." The day has since been named, and Flor-ida will have Oct. 18th set apart as her day. It is expected there will be a great crowd of visitors from this state. The Governor and his cabinet will be in attendance; the press will also be well represented, the railroads giving passes to editors of all papers on that day. Additional contributions from the state will be sent, and if any one from the North wishes to see Florida without taking he time or spending the money to come here they can get a very good idea of what can be raised here by attending that Exposition.

This county is to have a new court house, which is very badly needed. Very many in the county are opposed to it, not so much to the building of a new house, but wished the commissioners to sell the square where the house is located and use the money to build the house, and the money to build the house, and not tax the county, but the commissioners will not do it. To me it seems very foolish to complain of a tax for such a purpose, when the tax described. tax for such a purpose, when the tax is the small sum of five mills on the

One or two surveys were made several miles west of here, but this week the engineers have been at work on the line through this place, passing about two blocks east of the lusiness part of the city. When completed it will open a new line of communication, and not make the mountry pay tribute alone to the Transit R. R. The schools throughout the county commenced their winter terms last Monday. The East Florida Somi nary and Military Institute commoneed under very favorable circum stances, notwithstanding their new building is not yet finished. The new building is well along in its control building is not yet finished. new building is well along in its construction, and when completed will be one of the finest, if not the finest, in the state. The new Ladies' Seminary and Kindorgarton is starting off finely, while the private schools of Roy. Mr. Waugh and Miss Tebau are well putronized, as well as the colored. One thing the city lacks, and very much to her neglect, is a good public school building. They have to depend on renting a room for school purposes, and at this time no public school for white children is in session. The school houses in this state are mostly built by private subscription or else from the general school fund. No special tax can be evied to build school honses, and Cininesville has allowed herself to fall behind in this matter. Had not the East Florida Seminary been burned down last winter no doubt steps would have been taken to build a public school building, but every energy was bent to secure money to rebuild that building, or else it would have been removed from here. It is to be hoped that in the near fu ture the city may be as well provided with public schools as she is now with private, as no city in the state is her equal for good private schools.

A large number of strangers are already here, some to locate permanently, some to spend the winter only, and some to see the country with a view to locating. Every one is expecting a large influx of people from the North this winter, and no doubt their expectations will be realizad. The weather has been extremely warm for this time of year. The thermometer this week has shown itself as capable of climbing up as it did in July and August, but it will last us a call, cust side of park. only a few days probably, as it is time of year for cooler nights.

The Root Soap

This soap is taken from the Mexican Palmen or soap root, and contains no animal tat. As a toller soap it is superior to anything over offered to the public. While its chemising capacity is 6 times greater than any soap made from alkall and grouse, it contains nothing that would injure the most delicate skin; on the contrary, it will care chapped hands, pinnles, sumburn and all diseases of the skin. After washing with this soap a short time the skin becomes smooth and soit, rendering the complexion clear and beautiful. It will be complexed on clear and beautiful. It will be complexed on the same and animal, in renovating and preventing dendrudt. Its great purity and freedom from mineral and animal substances makes it the most destrable article for the infant bath that can be procured. It is the cheapest soap you can buy, because it will go larther and give better satisfaction than any other. Boat fail to give it at bial.

Mus. Dr. Krek-Kind Pricind. I can truly say my wrie is onloying bottle health than for teny ars. Having suffered with kidney discussmently twenty years, being pronounced diatobs, growing worse all the time, her period health being affected, and having the worst ientale trouble, at times suffering pain which was worse than death; and for its years she had been doctoring with the best of physicans without seeing any reflet; but I did not expect any change its so short a treatment, for I move the disease was a chronic trouble, and she had doctored for fen years with other physicians without redict, and, to be just, I must give Mrs. Dr. Keck a fair trial. But during the eighth work the improvement was underful. My Friends said it would not last, and the trouble would return; but I am huppy to state that the improvement continues, and she feeds comparatively well, although I expect it to take time to get a permanent our; for a disease of liventy years standing cannot be cured in a month or two. I even expect there will be days, when she will feel badly, but so fur there has not been any roturn of the disease. I can say that I feel thankful to Almighy God for making Mrs. Dr. Keek the instrument in the hambe of the Lord, for I do no holleve my wite could have stood the misery wills long, for she was so rapidly growing worse. For 1 feet sure if she had not followed your prescriptions she would now bo in her grave, having suffered everything possibleto suffer and live. She had catarries bad she could not take or smell anything, and it had gone to the left ling. She coughed badly all the time, raising much heavy matter, and was not able to lie on her left side for a year. She had suftered month with heart trouble, was very much debilitated, no appetite, not able to do any thing, and welland? To pounds. She also had liver and kidney trouble, suffering very much with heart trouble, was very much with mad in the back. I had her under the end out be been plysh lens from three counties, without any beacht. Last May, hearing of Mrs. Dr. Keek having an office in Peol h, I wrete to her, and sent for a month's treatment, although all of my friends told me that I might an well throw my money in the lire, for if she did send the maddelin their would only be athirable tul. But when it came there was a large hox of it. By wite improved, until now, after five months' treatment, she is another woman. And I thank God I bessed of Mrs. Dr. Keek. She has stoodly improved, until now, after five months' treatment, she is another woman. And I man God I bessed of Mrs. Dr. Keek. She has mad no more sinking or smothering spells, and does not cough or raise so much matter from her lungs, but is now able to do all ther own work. Week he fore last she did a lig washing, of bed-riother sand carpots, but had to eat three lig meals and take some of your medicine to help her along. She care she began your treatment.
